Nurse Residency Programs

Fee Structure

ANNUAL FEE

The annual fee applies to all nurse residency programs that hold accreditation by CCNE.

	FY* 2011	FY 2012	FY 2013
Annual fee for accredited residency program	$5,000	$5,000	$5,000

In general, CCNE invoices accredited programs for the annual fee in May and the deadline for payment is July. New applicant programs are assessed a prorated annual fee 2-3 months after the accreditation decision is granted.

EVALUATION FEE

Nurse residency programs are assessed a flat fee for hosting the on-site evaluation. This fee is intended to cover the team travel, lodging, and other expenses associated with the accreditation review process. This fee is based on the number of individuals comprising the evaluation team, not on the length of the on-site evaluation. An evaluation team typically comprises 3 individuals.

	FY 2011	FY 2012	FY 2013
Fee per team member	$1,750	$1,750	$1,750

CCNE invoices the program for the evaluation fee in advance of the on-site evaluation. Failure to pay the evaluation fee by the given deadline may result in cancellation of the on-site evaluation.

NEW APPLICANT FEE

The new applicant fee applies to any nurse residency program requesting new applicant status. This one-time fee must be submitted with the application for initial accreditation.

	FY 2011	FY 2012	FY 2013
New applicant fee for residency program	$7,500	$7,500	$7,500

PLEASE NOTE:

1. CCNE fees are separate from American Association of Colleges of Nursing (AACN) and University HealthSystem Consortium (UHC) membership dues and are nonrefundable.
2. Programs may be charged additional amounts for specific services or products they seek from CCNE.
3. The fee for appealing an adverse action is $5,000, which is intended to cover the costs of the hearing committee.
4. CCNE reserves the right to withdraw the accreditation status of any program that, after due notice, fails to pay its fees.

If questions, please contact CCNE staff at (202) 887-6791 or visit the CCNE Web site at www.aacn.nche.edu/accreditation.

* The CCNE fiscal year runs from July 1 to June 30.
